

Style AIR

Seating comfort coupled with a new sensation in posture care.

Create the perfect posture with the power of air.

Featuring a chiropractic method for guiding your body to the correct posture that combines with an air cushion structure to provide exceptionally soft seating comfort.

A new sensation of supporting your pelvis lets
you feel just like being wrapped in air, allowing you to comfortably go through the day
while maintaining a beautiful posture.

Introducing Style AIR for helping create your ideal posture readily.

Supports a correct posture and improves pelvic balance.

Pelvis Support Function

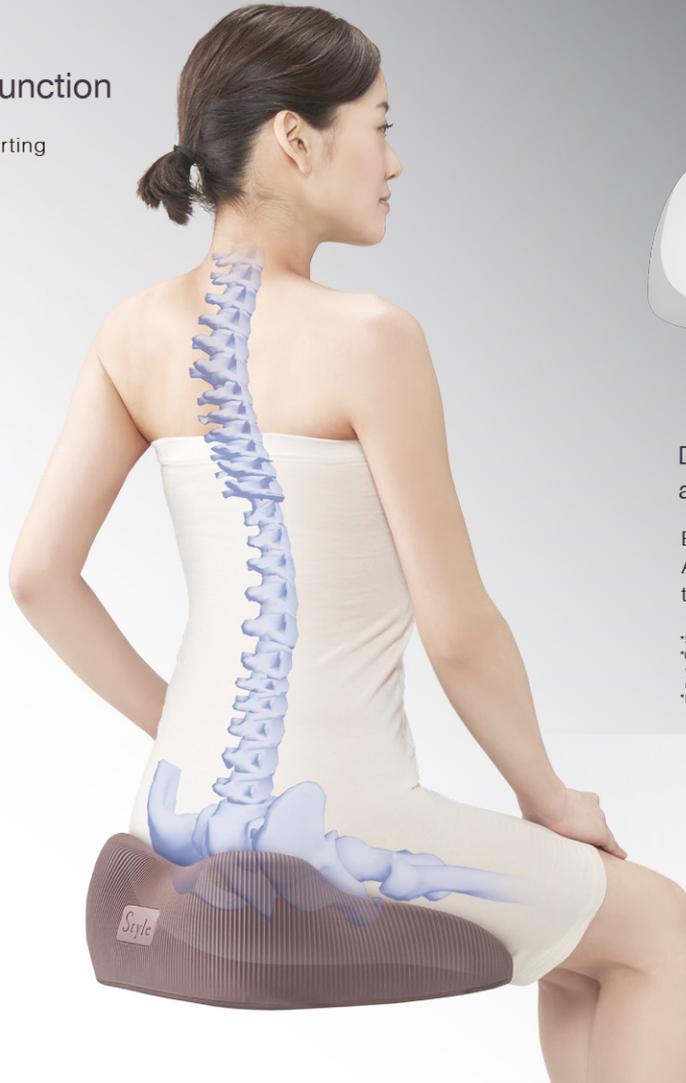

Assists the sacrum supporting the spine while improving pelvic tilt.

Without Style AIR

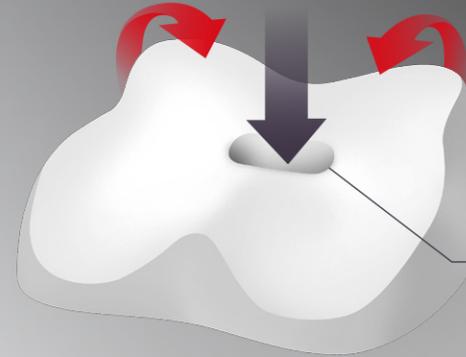

With Style AIR

Air Cushion Structure

With the power of air, this structure gently wraps and guides your pelvis to its proper position.

Center Pillar Structure

Combines soft seating comfort with stable support to easily maintain the proper positioning for the pelvis over long hours.

Disperses body pressure and reduces the burden on your body.

By maintaining the proper posture, Style AIR disperses the body pressure that tends to be localized.

*Subject: 28-year-old male
*Condition: A comparison of body pressure distribution on the seat while sitting with/without Style AIR, using body pressure dispersion measuring equipment (MTG test results)
*Individual results may vary.

Relieves body pressure by as much as 40%

Maintaining a proper posture naturally reduces the burden on your lower back.

In daily life, it is not easy to maintain a proper posture. In recent years, the increase of jobs that require sitting such as deskwork has made long hours of posture care necessary. That is why it is important to not only correct pelvic balance, but also cushion the body with a soft sitting surface that effectively disperses body pressure while relieving the burden on your lower back. By comfortably maintaining a proper posture, you can naturally reduce the load on your lower back.
