"Proteoglycan*" for high moisture retention

In addition to ingredients carefully selected by cutting edge dermatology, the emollient features "proteoglycan*" to provide even more moisturizing.

"Proteoglycan*" is of high quality and difficult to produce, making it a beauty ingredient that is difficult to apply in cosmetic products. The same biological substance as hyaluronate and collagen, it has garnered attention for its vital role in maintaining the skin's suppleness and moisture. Like hyaluronate, proteoglycan protects the skin with high moisture retention that leaves your skin hydrated and smooth.

*1 Soluble proteoglycan *2 Palmitoyl tripeptide-5

*3 Ascophyllum nodosum extract *4 Cladostiphon novae-caledoniae polysaccharide

*5 Rhododendron ferrugineum leaf cell culture extract
